DIGITAL X-RAY LEFT WRIST WITH HAND -AP VIEW

Clinical profile: Bone Age Estimation

Name:

Sex: Male / Female

Date of Birth:

Chronological Age: Years, Months.

X-ray done on-

FINDINGS

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 16 and 17 years, as the epiphyses of the 2nd to 5th metacarpals have fused while the fusion of epiphysis of the ulna has not begun.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 17 and 18 years, as the epiphysis of the ulna has not completely fused and the radial epiphysis also shows incomplete fusion.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 18 and 19 years, as the epiphysis of the radius is not completely fused, while all other epiphyses have fused.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is 19 years and above, the radial epiphysis has fused with the shaft, completing the skeletal maturation of the hand and wrist.

The estimated bone age as per Tanner - Whitehouse 3 (RUS score) is 16 years.

Since the chronological age is --- years and --- months, the bone age estimation was done using TW 3 (RUS score) method. The Tanner - Whitehouse RUS maturation score is 1000 and the skeletal maturation is complete. The estimated bone age is above 16 years and 06 months based on TW 3 (RUS score) method.

Hence, bone age estimation was further done using Greulich and Pyle method. The bone age is between 17 and 18 years as the epiphysis of the ulna has not completely fused and the radial epiphysis also shows incomplete fusion.

FEMALE

Since the chronological age is --- years and --- months, the bone age estimation was done using TW 3 (RUS score) method. The Tanner - Whitehouse RUS maturation score is 1000 and the skeletal maturation is complete. The estimated bone age is above 15 years based on TW 3 (RUS score) method.

Hence the estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 15 and 16 years, as the epiphyses of the radius and ulna have started to fuse with the shaft and fusion of the ulnar epiphysis is more than radial but still not complete.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 16 and 17 years, as the fusion of epiphysis of the radius is still not complete and the epiphysis of the ulna is nearly completely fused.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is between 17 and 18 years, as there is complete fusion of the epiphysis of the radius.

The estimated bone age according to Greulich and Pyle method is 18 and above, as the epiphysis of the radius is fused and the hand is indistinguishable from that of a young adult.
